Port of Clark takes part in Brigada Eskwela 2017

As part of its initiative to maximize its social responsibility as a government agency, Port of Clark recently concluded a successful outreach activity through its support in this year's Brigada Eskwela.

On June 3 (Saturday), Port of Clark officials and personnel, headed by District Collector Maritess T. Martin, joined together to extend their helping hand to the less fortunate children and students of Pulung Cacutud Elementary School, Angeles City, Pampanga. Aside from helping in the cleaning and beautification of the school's surrounding and facilities, the port also provided bags and school supplies which were made possible by each of the personnel's contribution.

In the pictures are the Port of Clark personnel with District Collector Maritess T. Martin leading the distribution of school supplies to the students of Pulung Cacutud Elementary School.

Aside from the school supplies given to students, through the efforts of all the employees, a cash donation was handed over by Collector Martin during the short opening ceremony to fund for the purchase of a screen in the school's canteen.

Thereafter, Port of Clark personnel, teachers and parents jointly started the drive cleaning. Employees of the port assisted the school through cleaning of the classrooms, offices and school grounds; repainting of classroom doors and stage in their covered court; and reconnection and repair of faulty electrical circuits including replacement of busted light bulbs. They likewise donated cleaning materials to the school.

The school Principal, Ms. Maria Carolina C. Viray, expressed her thankfulness and said all donations will surely benefit the school—the students, especially. While Collector Martin said she and the whole Port of Clark is very much willing to help again next year.
